The Immaculate Conception

Fourteenth Sunday of the Year

6th July 2014

Dear friends,

a great paradox lies at the heart of the Christian faith. The God we worship is a God of majesty but he is also a God of meekness or humility. The Holy One of Israel is revealed to us through the person of Jesus his Son. The lesson that he asks us to learn from him is humility of heart. We shall never learn such a lesson from the ways of the world where the weakest go to the wall and where the pushy and the arrogant are constantly involved in power struggles for the first place. Jesus through word and example is constantly calling us to serve and not to be served. The peace of mind and rest which he promises us will come to us only if we are attentive to the promptings of the Holy Spirit. There is a very real distinction between those who are wise and those who are clever. True wisdom is a gift of the Holy Spirit: cleverness is an accommodation to the ways of the world. Hence, the need for prayer and constant reflection. It is in stillness and quiet not in the clamour of the mass media that the Lord speaks to us the message of eternal life.

Our new bishop Fr Alan Williams was ordained last Tuesday at Brentwood in a service of great solemnity. He comes across as a person who is very relaxed and very approachable, quietly spoken and very gentle. Please pray for him since the demands made upon him will be considerable in many ways. Pray also for vocations to the priesthood since the shortage of priests is now reaching crisis point.

God bless you always
Father James
